County Herd Wins 19 Championships

Winning 19 championships, including all the sweepstakes, 40 blue ribbons for first place, 11 seconds and three thirds, the Rock county show herd stock won all but one of the black and white cattle classes at the Rock county fair, Evansville, Thursday, with Prof. George C. Humpreys judging.

May King's Duke of Whaukeshaw was made grand champion bull over all breeds, the Guernsey made a second showing. Ilander's Goldie, a senior yearling Guernsey also from the herd of Dr. W. A. Munro, Janesville, was grand champion dairy cow, being chosen as the outstanding female of the dairy show.

Breed Classes

In the sweepstakes where breed winners were pitted against breed winners, age herd honors went first to the Guernseys, second to the Holsteins.

Democrats Fear Montana May Give Them Trouble With Wheeler.

By ROBERT T. SMALL Copyright, 1924

Special Correspondent.

New York.—The eastern political battleground was being observed today by the leaders of both democratic and republican parties. The return of John D. Davis from his Malmo vacation enabled him and his campaign manager, Clem Shaver, of West Virginia, to have their first heart-to-heart talk since Mr. Shaver's appointment. Chairman William M. Butler, of the Republicans after a brief stay in the central west, was once more east of the Alleghenies with conferences in Boston, New York and Washington on his program.

Mr. Davis and Mr. Shaver had a "get together" to enable them to speak as one in the future. Up to this time the democratic campaign chief has moved cautiously and has been inclined to "doubt" some of the views attributed to Mr. Davis. In the future he hopes to be in position to plan with him.

The whole plan of the Davis campaign is to be mapped out in a series of conferences here and at the Davis home in Locust Valley, Long Island, while the candidate is at work on his speech of acceptance.

Davis on Speaking Tour.

Mr. Davis is not averse to a long speaking tour. He is willing to bear any burden the democratic leaders may feel called upon to

PLAN TO PUSH IRISH TREATY

(By ASSOCIATED PRESS)

London.—The house of commons again took up the Irish question. Colonial Secretary Thomas H. Lloyd, the government proposed immediately to introduce legislation giving effect to the Anglo-Irish treaty and to press for passage of that legislation through parliament regardless of the consequences to the government.

He announced that he had invited Mr. T. B. Cosgrave, head of the Southern Irish government, and Sir James Craig, Northern premier, to come to London to confer with him.

The proposed legislation would not be introduced until he had met Mr. Cosgrave and Sir James, but a bill dealing with the treaty would be introduced if they failed to agree before the adjournment of parliament.

HENRY LOPEZ BOY.

Baldwin, Mich.—Indian guides with dogs are leading search parties of men and women seeking to locate Walter Gorczynski, 7, of Chequamegon, lost in Eden forest in northern Lake county. He has been missing since Wednesday and it is feared he may have perished in the severe storm of Thursday night.

CROWE LOSES IN FIGHT AGAINST MENTAL EVIDENCE

cases offered by the state in its effort to bring up a record reference to the mental state of the defendants. He had a dozen or more such cases to discuss.

Robert E. Crowe, state's attorney, said this morning that the prosecution would certainly reply to Mr. Bachrach's arguments and also to the impassioned plea with which Clarence S. Darroow, chief counsel for the defense, addressed the court yesterday.

The prosecution's local protest techniques with perhaps a momentous legal ruling by Judge John P. Caverly, at their conclusion, proved a magnet for court fans.

Dinner Bridge—Mrs. Irving A. Clark, 915 School street, entertained a small company at dinner Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. Robert More, Mrs. Paul Minn. Bridge was played and prize presented to Mrs. Robert More.

Resuming the doctor said:

"Did Not Belie in God."

"Dicks did not believe in God. In later years, because he was mentally older than youths of his age, he had been thrown in with older youths and had begun to drink, largely in imitation of others," said the doctor.

Loeb said, according to the doctor, he felt inferior, had grown up feeling he was not wanted, and had a distinct feeling of inferiority. His falsehoods became of a more positive character. If some one in the family would ask where he had been he would say "not only negative lie, but would build up a positive yarn, inventing a lot of things he had not been doing."

These lies were extended until they were told to companions, including "Dabe" Loepold, the doctor said.

"I asked him if he had enjoyed the experience after his arrest," said Dr. White. "He immediately answered, 'Yes,' then began to talk and finally he was talking at any rate."

"Air Castle."

As the doctor got into phantasmagoria interrupted and asked if "phantasmagoria" were not synonymous with "building air castles." The doctor said, "Yes," and also agreed with Mr. White that it was quite a common expression to "build air castles."

"The defense would have us say these boys who have snared day after day at the representatives of the law have not blood on their hands, but jam."

Mr. Crowe said the defense had pictured Loepold and Loeb, not as "intellectuals who in their self-imposed superiority to the law pretended to be God."

"If that boy had come into my office I would have chided me because I sentenced him to death," said Mr. Crowe.

"He thought of himself as a master criminal mind," said Dr. White, adding that Loeb often played a game with himself pretending to be a great detective or again a director of criminal activities.

"He was a bit of a phantasmagoria."

"Now with reference to the Frankensteen specifically," said the witness, "I asked him a number of definite questions as to what had caused him to commit that homicide. It seems to me that the planning of this homicide was in the minds of these two boys for a period of about two months and a half."

"Richard's brother had been under consideration, and the parents had been consulted," said Dr. White.

"The object of Dick was to complete the perfect crime thoroughly and completely planned in all details, to get help, the object of great concern in the immediate vicinity. It would be an intellectual feat to accomplish such a crime."

Court recessed at this point until 2 p.m.

DEATH CAR DRIVER WAS INTOXICATED

stand at the inquest Friday in Beloit municipal court before County Coroner Lynn A. Palmer, 421 Logan street, left today for Leavenworth where he will spend the weekend.

"Will you please state your professional connections, both present and past and how long they have lasted?" said Walter Bachrach.

"In 1963 I was appointed superintendent of the government hospital for the insane at Madison, now known as St. Elizabeth's Hospital," Dr. White answered. "I belong to several prominent medical societies and congresses," he added, and named a half score. "I am the president of the public health service. I am the president of the American Psychiatric Association."

"As a result of your experience have you acquired any knowledge of the operation of the human mind?" asked Mr. Bachrach.

"I have."

Tell Where I'm Lying

Dr. White testified he was asked by Mr. Bachrach to come to Chicago and to evaluate the situation and report on the same.

"There was no other agreement," said Dr. White.

"I merely was to inform you of the boy's condition so that you could state your case."

"What is the importance of the past and environment in examining a patient?" Dr. White was asked. "It is of enormous importance," Dr. White answered.

Bachrach's questions led through whether the doctor could tell whether a patient was lying, and Crowe objected, but was overruled. Judge Caverly saying the doctor was put on for a purpose and he was desirous of finding out what the purpose was.

"Is it always possible to make a diagnosis that a patient is suffering from a mental disease?" was asked.

Dr. White said the examination of Leopold and Loeb was conducted from July 1 to July 8 in the county jail, under proper conditions, the boys being removed from cells to a big room provided for them.

"Is it always possible to make a diagnosis that a patient is suffering from a mental disease?" was asked.

He was certified as the highest candidate recently by the civil service commission.

White described first the historical factors he had discovered which the defendant's poor health in the first and a half years of life and that for the next six or seven years he was under the influence of a governor who, the doctor said, was "somewhat prudish and rigid in character."

Loeb was held down to such an extent that he led a life different from that of other children and when he escaped from his governors control, he, in his own words, "grew up over night."

The doctor said that at the age of 15 Loeb was in an automobile accident in which he suffered concussion.

Wisconsin Law Forbids Driving With Dimmers

In driving on public highway in Wisconsin at night, motorists are forbidden by law to dim their headlights, and the secretary of state so advises every motorist when he sends the license plates.

"For this reason the Wisconsin law forbids dimming your headlights and the secretary of state so advises every motorist when he sends the license plates.

"But this does not mean that you may cause blinding glare. You are required to have a light on the road which is so bright that you can see a dark object 200 feet ahead of your car and at the same time not blind the other driver."

Drivers are urged to have their lights tested and properly focused so as not to blind motorists coming from the opposite direction.

"Would you drive your car 20 to 30 miles an hour blindfolded?" queries the industrial commission. Of course you would not, and yet that is what people do in effect when they dim their headlights while passing each other on the highway.

"Everyone knows that bright lights shining in the eye blind a person and cause accidents. No so many people know that suddenly dimming the headlights on another car also blinds the driver and that this procedure causes just as many highway accidents as glaring lights."

"What person has not been partially blinded for a few moments when stepping from a brightly lighted room to a dark cellar stairway?"

"The effect is the same when you suddenly dim your headlights. To blind the other fellow does you no good either, because it never hits the road bed. Hence, when your lights are glaring, you are wasting light."

"Therefore, for selfish reasons, if no other, you will benefit from a little attention to your headlights."

"If your garage man cannot show you how to focus and adjust your headlights, write for a booklet published by the Industrial Commission which explains in full how to do it."

COUNTY LIABLE ON DRAINAGE BONDS

ALBION
Madison—A county is liable for further assessments on bonds bid by it for payment of drainage taxes under the farm drainage law. Prof. E. B. Jones, head of the state department of agriculture engineering, was advised by the attorney general's department. The department had been told Prof. Jones that drainage commissioners have power to use money in the general fund to pay interest on bonds of the district without an order from court. Clark county drainage district was involved in the opinion.

Reorganization Is Planned for Oil Inspection

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS)

Madison — Complete reorganization of the state oil inspector's department will be requested of the next legislature. T. J. Cunningham, state oil inspector, declared today. The reorganization to be proposed would enlarge and strengthen the department, it was said.

State inspectors, oil inspectors, numbered more than 100, would be placed on a full-time basis with a regular salary and flat fee basis, insuring stability of inspectors. If the legislative plans are carried out, more authority for the department in enforcing safety measures and oil regulations also will be used.

The organization has grown from a small division developed mainly to protect individuals in the oil industry against hazards, to one of considerable income with an extended work to perform," Mr. Cunningham declared. "It has outgrown its bounds and must be enlarged and strengthened to meet the enlarged and changed conditions of the oil industry in the state."

"Inspectors should be placed on a flat salary basis so that they will be insured a reasonable income. By this, we could get inspectors to put in their full time and efforts toward insuring the safety of the oil industry and enforcement of regulations. Under the present scheme, inspectors are not certain of a reasonable salary. They should be required to make daily reports and inspections, and check closer the operation of oil firms in the state." Under existing laws, oil companies can demand excess fees collected over the running expenses of the oil inspection department, Mr. Cunningham said. A change in this system probably will be requested.

WILL OPEN GRAVE OF JOHN BRANDT, KILLED IN FIRE

(Continued from page 4) of the son of the dead man followed an investigation of several years by the officers of the state fire marshal and District Attorney A. F. Murphy of Marinette.

Preliminary hearing of the brothers is set for Aug. 6 at Marinette.

Taken to Marinette.

The two young men were taken back to Marinette shortly after 6 p.m. Thursday, handcuffed and under a heavy guard. John, Jr., was defiant and composed while Louis was weeping and on the verge of collapse.

Attorney Ray J. Cannon, defense counsel, says the state's case is weak and weak and does not think the men will ever be held for trial.

Picking the evidence to places, Mr. Cannon declared that threats against their father attributed to the two sons do not necessarily prove murder. The fact that John, Jr. obtained a gun from the house and "covered" the barn door while the building was ablaze, purely was an attempt to protect himself and his mother, the attorney added.

Mother in Tears.

In the little Brandt home in South Milwaukee, the mother of the two young men repeated times and again her belief in the innocence of her two boys.

"I would stake my life that my boys did not kill their father," she declared. "They were good to him. They stayed on the farm and helped him though he was mean to them. My life with John Brandt was a veritable hell."

"How could they have killed him when they were with me when the barn was burning?" she asked.

When told the two sons were to be taken back to Marinette to stand trial, she wept and asked, "What will I do? We have no money. Who will support the family? Who will pay for the trials?"

District Attorney A. F. Murphy, Marinette county, Conrad Asmuth, former deputy state fire marshal and Fire Marshal Greenwald will work on the case for several days before they go to Marinette for the arraignment, on Tuesday.

Westby.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cunningham spent Saturday at Turtle Lake. Several farmers in this vicinity are improving their buildings with a coat of paint.

Still Sold by Russia.

Cheap goods of a socialistic nature continue to be sold to the people of the United States by Russia, and the communal radicals over there must laugh in their sleeve or openly at the guillotine of good men and women who take the form for the substance. One of the most easily sold soviet articles is that of non-defensive peace. The Gazette on Thursday printed an analytical exposé of the real reason behind the peace propaganda of the Libby committee. It was born in the Third International, fostered by Foster, who is so radical that Mr. LaFollette, for some reason, unfeigned him from his presidential cart, but which now has a backer in the democratic candidate for vice president, Charles Bryan.

Russia does not believe or practice in what she attempts to have other nations adopt—full disarmament and complete unpreparedness, either by navy or army or civilian guard. Russia maintains a great standing army and is ready to meet any emergency or make an offensive at any time.

Yet we are cajoled, deceived and easily led into adoption of the Russian plan by Machiavellian souls who find response here in America from many decent and otherwise perfectly good American citizens.

The opposition to the National Defense Day procedure is a part of the peace propaganda of the Russians as shown by the connection of Libby and others with the so-called Workers Party of which Foster is the head and its candidate for president. One might as well object to the annual camp of the Wisconsin or other state guards and the military training which they receive there as to get all heated up over a demonstration that the United States can get along with a very small army.

The attempt to make it appear that the defense day ceremonies are a military gesture comes from either the agents of the Russian propaganda or those uninformed as to its purpose. In carrying out the national defense act the day has been set aside as a demonstration of the very small necessities we have for military armament. National guard and regular army units will take their places as they would, were they called out, and such civilians as are willing may also take places in the ranks for service. It would be the same as though some great national emergency existed and the nation had been called to its defense.

Exaggerated as a military demonstration in force and as against peace, the Russian followers have seized upon it as a propagandist peg on which to hang still more of the socialist and bolshevik missionary work.

Even the hog is having his ups and downs of life.

The Acceptance of the Dawes Plan

Acceptance of the Dawes plan seems quite possible before the premiers of the several nations now meeting at Paris have closed their sessions.

England and France have accepted the principle of the plan and the American method of saving Europe economically only hails because of those traditional differences which have alienated the larger nations since the armistice. It is just as well, perhaps not to be too optimistic over the final result. We still have Germany to consider and it has been repeated so many times that the statement has become trite, that Germany has never had any intention of paying the amount of reparations which has been assigned her.

But the Dawes plan is the only way out now if Germany does not wish to either be under the French thumb for many more years or go to pieces nationally.

There has been no question at all as to the attitude of America in the matter. We have been willing to make a plan to study the situation from the viewpoint of a disinterested party and give our best judgment. That is embodied in the remarkable document provided by the commission under the chairmanship of Gen. Chan G. Dawes. Another member of that commission is being mentioned as the Agent General of Reparations. Owen D. Young has the confidence of the premiers. He again would be in better position to serve Europe than as though we were in the League of Nations or had accepted the Versailles treaty.

The position of the United States in reference to Europe has never been better. The unselfish disinterestedness makes America the natural arbitrator and agent for all nations who are suspicious and uncertain of each other.

These are the days when people go to picnics and say they have enjoyed themselves.

After sweltering at summer resorts and fight-

The Issues of the Campaign

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington, D. C.—With the election of 1924 turn upon the personalities, characters and records of the three presidential candidates, Coolidge, Davis and LaFollette, upon the records of the republican, democratic and progressive parties or upon the issues outlined in the party platforms? Will new issues arise and become dominant during the course of the campaign? Will anybody be able to determine just what issues are the decisive ones, even after the election is over and the quadrennial explanations and analyses are in order?

Party leaders are always ready, if not anxious, to tell the public what the real issues of a campaign are, but the public is not always willing to take the judgment of the leaders and not inclined to determine just what issues are the decisive ones, even after the election is over and the quadrennial explanations and analyses are in order.

MISTRESS WILDING:

A ROMANCE, BY RAFAEL SABATINI.

(Author of "Scaramouche", "Capt. in Blood", "Fortune's Fool", etc.)
He almost held his breath while she spoke, caught in amazement. He was standing close beside her chair, his right hand resting upon its tail.
"Did you so intend?" she asked him.
"I told you even now," he answered, with hard-won calm, "that I had made you a sort of promise."

"...I did not have you keep it," she mumbled.

She heard his sharply indrawn breath, felt him leaning over her, and was filled with an unaccountable fear.

"Was it to tell me this you came?" he asked her, his voice reduced to a whisper.

"No, no," she answered, and again he felt her, suddenly proud for some reason to keep him by her side until his danger should be over past.

That much she owed him in honour if in nothing else.

"No—yes?" he reechoed, and he had drawn himself erect again.

"What let you mean, Ruth?"

"I mean that it was that, yet not quite only that."

"Ah!" Disappointment vibrated faintly in his exclamation. "What else?"

"I would have you abandon Mon-month's following," she told him.

He stared a moment, moved away and round where he could confront her. The flush had now faded from his face. This he observed and the beauty of his bosom in the tow bedclothes. He lifted his brows, perplexed. Here was surely more than at first might seem.

"Why so?" he asked.

"For your own safety's sake," she answered him.

"You are oddly concerned for that, Ruth."

"Concerned—not oddly."

She paused an instant, swallowed hard, and then continued. "I am concerned for your honour, and there is no honour in following this banner."

King, and so proved himself a selfseeker who came dissembled as the champion of a cause that he might delect poor ignorant folk into the throne of his ambition ends."

"You are welcome to my schoolroom," said he. "Whose teachings do you revere me? Sir Rowland

Blakes?"

At another time the sneer might have cut her. At the moment she was too intent upon gaining time, too intent to it matched little. The more she tried to purpose, the more at random was her talk, the less the better would her ends be served.

"Sir Rowland Blakes?" she cried.

"Ah what? Let me set you the question rather."

"I seek nothing," she assured him.

"For some moments it was this simple question which served them as a topic for their old interview. On the overmastered pulse of time beat on from a little wooden clock. His eyes strayed to it; it marked the three-quarters. He thought him suddenly of his enemy, the Trinchard, below stairs, supremely indifferent whether Wilding went to Newington's or not, smacked on entirely unconcerned by the flight of time.

"Mistress," said Wilding suddenly, "you have not yet told me in what you seek my service. Indeed, we seem to have talked to little purpose. My time is very short."

"Where are you going?" she asked him, and fearfully she shot a look.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Creamed Eggs—Take four eggs, one tablespoon flour, two cups milk, two tablespoons butter, salt. Melt the butter in a skillet, then add the milk, flour, eggs and salt well beaten. Stir and cook until of a very creamy consistency.

Steamed (Southern Style)—One pound round beans, two stalks salt pork, one pint water. String the beans and cut them in lengths, add salt pork and water. Let come to a boil, then thinner for two hours. This makes them very tender.

Baked Stuffed Veal—Two pounds veal, broiled with pocket, one cup bread crumbs, three eggs, two tablespoons almonds, one cup raisins, one pepper, shredded. Mix, season with French dressing and serve on head lettuce. Shape the loaf like a bowl and place this filling inside.

Ginger Apple Cake—One-half cup sugar, one can raisins, one-half cup shortening, one egg, two teaspoons lemon juice, grated. Make a mess of bread, eggs, almonds and raisin pulp. Add salt and enough water, stuff and bake until done, about one hour.

—Take one cup cabbage, shredded, one tablespoon chives, chopped; three round red radishes, sliced; three small onions, sliced; one pepper, shredded. Mix, season with French dressing and serve on head lettuce. Shape the loaf like a bowl and place this filling inside.

PRICE OF FLOUR
TAKES BIG JUMP

Increase of 15 to 20 Cents
Sack Recorded Here During Past Week.

Considerable advance in the price of flour, on account of the recent raise in the wholesale prices of the grain, has featured the Janesville grocery market during the past week. The advance amounts to about 60 cents per bushel, and puts the price per sack 15 to 20 cents the most brands.

The fruit market has been varied this week, with Georgia Alberto peach, at 17 to 20 cents for a small basket, forming the center of most of the displays. Large baskets are at 75 cents. They are said to be excellent for slicing.

Small cherries are on the market at 17 to 20 cents a quart, but larger cherries, which have entirely disappeared, and all now obtainable are of the Michigan variety. Blueberries, though on the market for more than a week, continue at the same price of the first of the season, 25 cents a quart. Barrett eating pears have been reduced 10 to 15 cents a dozen, and are now selling as low as 40 cents a dozen.

Raspberries Are Higher.

Among the home-grown fruits this week are currants, at 15 cents a quart; gooseberries at the same price; raspberries at 20 cents a pint; and blackberries at 15 cents a pint.

The Kennington club, mounted by Dousman Thursday with a picnic dinner and was entertained by Mrs. James, whose son, Mr. Williams, of "The Wizard of Oz," Special music will be furnished by a trio composed of Mrs. Clifford Howe and her sisters, Misses J. B. Lasswell and T. Williams.

BY FRANK SINCLAIR

MIDWEST ENTERS INTO NEW SEASON TO DECIDE RACE

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]

Chicago—Order has come out of the chaos that temporarily upset the Midwest League in past two days with the withdrawal of the Nilesens and the dropping of the Logan Squares, both of Chicago. As a special part of the new bargain, the tongue will absorb the Logan Square club with Racine having the call on the players and the Canton and Beloit teams are to book a post-season series of five games at the conclusion of which team is the better team.

After two days of argument, pro and con on several plans for the completion of the season, the board of directors adjourned divided after Thursday's session and it remained for President Frank Smith to settle the difficulties.

In promulgating his decision President Smith said he was aware that there might be some dissatisfaction regarding the ruling but in the interests of the league and in the interests of the fans who have so unselfishly given their support to the big semi-pro outfit he believed that all opposition will be obliterated before the end of what promised to be a whirlwind winding schedule.

Ruling Settles Conflict.

The ruling in the controversy, issued last night by President Smith follows:

PLAYERS who have holed out or should not try putt over again when other players are following them. Players seeking a lost ball shall allow other men to come up to pass them; they should signal to the players following them to pass, and having given such a signal, they should not continue their play until these players have passed and are out of range, but if displaced by a player signal to one replaced and played down with the foot. A player should carefully hit up all holes made by himself in a bunker. Players should see that their caddies do not injure the holes too close to them when the ground is soft. A player who has incurred a penalty stroke should inform the fact to his opponent as soon as possible.

St. Paul Yacht club retains Cameron cup, Caunes Back winning from Canadian competitors.

Miss Edith Cummings, national golf champion, enters women's western golf meet beginning at Chicago next week.

Australian Davis tennis cup team defeats Chinese in New York.

American Olympic track team wins in Stockholm, Sweden.

DIAMOND SPARKLES

St. Louis' southpaws proved too much for the league-leading Yankees Thursday and the Browns romped home with both ends of a doubleheader. In the first game, in Beloit, the Browns had the New Yorkers at their mercy, blunting them to 10-6. Danforth was the Yankee hero in the second—the home Ruth was the only one able to save the left-handed slants of the Brown twirlers, hitting two singles in the first and a home run and single in the second.—His streak of 20 hits for the season and his 14th win, his fifth for the month, established a new monthly record. His best previous mark was established in June, 1921, when he made 13 home runs.—The double defeat cut down the Yankee lead to one-half after completion of the new schedule.

The foregoing ruling is pronounced in an effort to give each team in the new race an even chance.

News for Square Players.

An erroneous report that the League had rescinded the contracts of the Logan Square players and that the league would do so.

This report was辟aked Thursday, when John Culahan, who declared that John Culahan was responsible for the statement, told Collins in an interview that the league had rescinded the contracts of Eddie Collins, who is out for a few days due to a strained leg, as a big factor in Chicago's victory over Boston, 5-1. The Athletics and the Indians also evened in a doubleheader, Philadelphia taking the first, 7-3, and Cleveland the second, 4 to 3, in a 10 inning battle. John McGraw, Giants took another drubbing at the hands of the Pirates in a game that ran until 6 innings. The score was 10-1. The Pittsburgh team, which had won its seventh straight win and placed them only eight games behind the league-leading New York, 10-1. The game ended up the sevens with Brooklyn, winning a closely contested game, 4-1.—Barrett's hitting for the Cubs was the feature of the game, the first three hits in all the Chicago tallies with a batter and a triple.—Defeat once more with a doubleheader, when the St. Louis Cardinals beat Mitchell out of the box in the first inning, scoring four runs, enough to win.—The final score was 6-5. Johnson and Hornsby hit for the circuit, Rogers making his 15th of the season. The Cardinals-Boston game was called at the end of the fourth inning by rule made it impossible to continue play.

William Tilden, national tennis champion, continues to near finals in Pacific coast meet.

President Coolidge congratulates American Olympic winners in message.

IDENT. R. E. VERMETTE, Ft. Williams, Me., leads national pistol trials with 1400 X 1200.

SCRAMS ABOVE SCRAPPERS.

Johnny McDonald, local boxer, became disqualified on foul in bout with Young Arnold at Phoenix, Ariz. (7-10).—Joe Malone, middleweight boxer of St. Paul, jumps from Charleston bridge at Boston with clothes on to settle bet.—New York ministers seek protection of Luis Angel Firpo, South American heavyweight champion, on grounds of his conduct. Al Stone, Philadelphia, wine concession, knocked out Jack Burke, Pittsburgher, Youngstown (4-12).—Eugene Crisp, former featherweight champion of world, slightly hurt in auto accident.

—Jack Renault, Canadian light heavyweight, and Harry Madden, Brooklyn, who met in Brooklyn Aug. 14, exchanged blows over Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul—Porter Schutte, Omaha, winner, has the grippe.

Ned Allis picked to win Wisconsin gold title at Kenosha next week.

With debt of $1,000 on books, Stevens Point team may disband.

W. C. Spoor, holding, Mich., dropped dead at Herkimer county fair Thursday, and a few minutes later his horse, Glenwood Todd, won the third race.

White Sox have signed Webb Schaefer, pitcher, who has been making a fortune with the Toledo, Mich., team of the Upper Peninsula Association, an independent league. He will join the Sox next spring.

FAIR EDUCATIONAL EXHIBIT EXCELS

School Displays at Evansville
Fair Ahead of Previous Years.

The rural school exhibit at the Rock county fair is far ahead of past exhibits in this section, both in the number of entries and the excellence of the work.

The school was awarded first place on general exhibit by one district. There were no second or third premiums in this class, although four other schools had good exhibits. Mrs. Lola Smith Webb was teacher of Tulare school the past year. Brown school, Mrs. Lillian Hause, teacher, has a particularly good exhibit representing many types of work. One of the interesting features of the Tulare exhibit is the decorated glass containers.

Union was given first place on township display. Magnolia, second and La Prairie, third.

Rifles on Display

One result of the movement for home economics clubs among the rural school girls is seen in the creditable display of sewing, baking and canning products in the rural school section. Magnolia township has a new rifle on exhibit and there is one rifle in the youth division exhibit.

This is the first time rifles have been seen in fair exhibits in this county and is an indication of the interest aroused. In kite making through the Gazette tournaments held at the township play days, there was open competition classification for kites but the best as an individual exhibit was placed under the home made toy classification. There is also a good display of bird houses in this section.

The Evansville school exhibit in charge of Miss Anna Perry, grade supervisor, attracted many visitors of interest. A circus arranged by the third grade and model kitchens made of cardboard and paper, have attracted much attention. There is also a good display of bird houses, while the exhibit of model chicken coops made in a class in agriculture, indicates that practical lessons are being learned in this branch.

Health Work Promoted

An electrically operated "dummy" child, with a smiling face, drinks milk continually in the county tent and is watched with great interest by the young visitors.

There is also presented with the milk electricity a continuous pageant of cardboard figures representing the vegetable and fruit friends provided by nature to help boys and girls grow.

The county nurse, Mrs. Anna Lutzschner-Hawley, is there to examine babies under two years of age, to determine the winners of the healthiest baby prizes offered by the fair association.

The skeleton, alone of an average whale weighs 25 tons.

PAID $47.50 FOR THE HORSE; SKINNED, WANTS MONEY BACK

MARY E. HULBERT PLACEMENT OFFICER

Will Have Headquarters in Janesville School for Blind.

Madison — After purchasing a horse which he claims was represented to have the spirit of Zev and the pulling power of a thoroughbred, a Madison man has appealed to police to help him regain the $47.50 which he paid for the animal.

The man declares the horse has been sleeping ever since he purchased it, that he won't even get up for meals. Police are investigating the case.

BRODHEAD

Brodhead—Miss Lorna Searles went to Chicago Wednesday to visit at the home of her brother, R. P. Searles, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Jacobson returned to Chicago Wednesday after a ten days' visit at the W. L. Gehring home.

Mrs. Melvin Walker, son and daughter, Richland Center, are guests at the Llewellyn Fleck home.

Roderick & Schrader, local Farm Bureau agents, shipped five carloads of stock to Chicago Wednesday.

With relatives at Elberta, Ind., Misses Myrtle and Odessa Gritzer went to Chicago Wednesday to visit their aunts, Mabel Miller and Palmer.

Mme. G. B. Lahr, D. Roderick and Blackford, Judi, spent Wednesday here.

III-EXPLOSIVE SHELLS AT NIGHT FAIR

Approximately 135 shells will be used at the first exhibition of the Janesville Fair Association this morning for a "night fair." This is the initial performance of the first annual pageant, which will re-enact the history of the northwest.

Hundreds of tourists from all parts of the United States are here to attend the opening. The show will be staged in the County Horticultural on Red Cliff Jay, where preparations for the function have been completed.

The program requires three days for each performance, it is planned to give seven performances.

HORSES THING OF PAST AT SUPERIOR

(By Associated Press)

Superior—The day of the horse drawn vehicle is "gone forever" even in Douglas county, primarily a farming section. Recently 10,853 vehicles passed selected points on county highways. In the day before road census takers were stationed. Of the 10,853 equine, 14,821 were promenaded by gasoline motors and 22 were drawn by horses.

As one by one the shells explode at a high altitude the sky takes on the colors of vast garden beds in full bloom, huge masses of sparkling jewels, giant golden suns and hundreds of stars. Color, beauty and variety make this wonderful creative fireworks exhibition one of the best of its kind that has ever been shown in this part of the country.

CHOOSING A SCHOOL

Choice of a private school, for either a boy or girl, according to certain characteristics decided upon in advance, has always been a difficult matter. Questions are being received continually by educational bureaus asking for certain types of schools located in certain parts of the country. Much time may be saved and possible disappointment avoided by consulting the public library this week.

"American Private Schools", compiled by Porter Sargent, contains a list of all standard private schools of the country, divided according to size, boys' and girls' boarding schools, military schools, girls' schools, co-educational, schools of music, art, physical education, drama and public speaking, business, technical and schools of nursing.

The location, number of students, director in charge, courses of study offered, relative quality of instruction, and recreational facilities are described.

ORFORDVILLE

Orfordville—Considerable interest was manifest in the village when about nine thirty in the evening on Wednesday, a large cross was burned on the J. E. Eggn hill north west of the village. No disorder was indulged in.

Spotted from Orfordville went to Janesville Wednesday evening to bear the address of Mr. Hirst at the Myers Opera House.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ashby who have been touring Colorado and other western states for the past six weeks, returned home on Wednesday.

Mr. Silverthorn went to Appleton on Wednesday to attend the convention of undertakers.

Mr. and Mrs. James Howe returned on Wednesday afternoon from a week's outing in the northern part of the state.

MADISON MAN IS NAMED TRUSTEE

Conrad F. Martens, Madison, was appointed trustee for the creditor of the Square Deal store, formerly operated by Jack Nelson and William Howland, by the Lamb, referred to in bankruptcy in Madison, Thursday.

J. G. McWilliams, local attorney, represented the petitioners.

DEATH RATE OF CHILDREN GROWS

Starting Increases in Fatalities from Disease in Many States.

The death rate resulting from diseases of children has taken a decided increase in all sections of the country, according to Dr. L. J. Woodworth, acting city health officer.

The increase in deaths resulting from such ailments as whooping cough and measles is believed to be due to carelessness on the part of parents and family influences. It is said, parents do not realize the need of a greater beltline than the one they have at present.

The beginning of the epidemic in 1923 was admitted by Secretary of the Interior, Mr. Weeks and other intimates of the president had urged him recently to leave Washington for a time and to take at least a 10 days or two weeks rest from his official duties.

The health report of the state of Delaware shows that the death rate from measles jumped from 2 to 25 and whooping cough from 1 to 14 within a year.

The figures for Wisconsin have not yet been announced by the department of commerce, but it is expected that there will be some increase.

Deaths of children should be given immediate attention, said Dr. Woodworth, even though the ailments are not considered important. In this way serious illness can be prevented.

Mr. Butler has come east because the republicans admit their campaign is developing into a two-sided battle. They are compelled to fight the third party or La Follette movement in the granger states of the west and northwest and to try to hold the democrats in check in the middle west.

It is no secret that the republicans have the democrats in mind, so that they could con-place on his vigorous shoulders. But Dr. Davis probably believes more strength is to be gained by radio broadcast than by the attempt to visit too many cities and towns. Every suggestion made thus far is tentative.

It is recalled that the Harding campaign plans were shifted in the course of the battle and the democats are going to leave their present base enough to take care of any emergency.

Why Butler Went East.

Republican spokesman denied today that Chairman Butler had hurried east because of reports Washington that President Coolidge did not appear to be in physical condition as his main campaign goal. He gave him at the beginning of the campaign.

Dr. Woodworth commented on the death rate in Wyoming, where the 1923 rate for whooping cough was five and diphtheria, 11. The measles percentage was 100.

It is no secret that the republicans have the democrats in mind, so that they could concentrate their fire virtually in one section of the country. The nomination of Mr. Davis, falling from West Virginia, but living in New York, unquestionably put an added burden upon the republican machine.

Fight Is Against La Follette.

There is much political significance under the simple statement of republican chieftains that in certain states of the west they are to make their real fight against the La Follette outfit and ignore the democats to all intents and purposes.

On the other hand, it would seem to be a greater beltline than the importance of the democrats, but the republican claim is a recognition of the fact that the G. O. P. is to center its eastern fire on the state of New York. It is felt that the state of New York is the most important to the republicans.

Democrat managers say they have never entertained any hopes of carrying the state when the La Follette threat is greatest. Of course, if La Follette should fall short of his expected strength in these states and, instead of carrying them, should merely split the republican vote, the democrats feel they will have a chance to Wilson did during his campaign of 1912.

The democrats contend that only one state which they might expect to carry is threatened by the La Follette ticket. That state is Minnesota, where Senator Wheeler, the La Follette vice presidential candidate in Minnesota, is the Wheeler influence in the state will be offset by the loss of one of the principal subjects to be discussed by the democratic leaders, including Mr. Davis, during the next few days.

PERSIAN PRESS RELIEVED

Teheran, Persia.—The press is generally relieved at what was regarded as the moderation of the American demands made in connection with the killing of Vice Consul Imbele.

GAIN IN WHEAT RETURNS

Washington.—The department of agriculture said American wheat growers may get from $100,000,000 for their wheat this year than last.

The Meanest Man in the World

—so they say—was the precious parent who bribed his offspring to take cod liver oil at a penny a dose, then robbed the filled bank to buy a fresh bottle.

A good deal the same futile cycle follows the penny-a-dose economy of buying low grade, cheapened motor fuel. The saving on the gallon cost is poured right back in the wasteful, over-rich mixture necessary to maintain poor fuel at the point of usability.

Cheaped fuels, loaded with kerosene and the "heavy ends" of petroleum dregs are almost impossible to start when mixed with the normal, correct volume of air—consequently most carburetors are constantly kept set for the unduly rich starting mixture instead of the properly thinned running mixture.

The result is the excess use of gas, overheating and extra carbon due to slow burning of the wet mixture, and the dangerous down-drop of unburned portions into the oil reservoir. What's become of the economy?

Wadham's True Gasoline

needs no coaxing to the spark and no wasteful crowding to keep it running. Its full, free vaporization is natural—under all conditions taking the scientifically correct proportion of air that means the clean, dry, all-burning explosion of true economy. Its ideal starting mixture is its ideal running mixture—ready alike for the faintest hint of the firing spark or the heaviest pulls of traffic emergency.

It travels farther, more smoothly, with better effect on your engine—giving you maximum driving comfort without motor meanness or the delusive self-bribery of empty savings.
